TEDDY'S SOCIAL OBLIGATIONS

ROUND OF OFFICIAL DINNERS AND RECEPTIONS

White House Will be Scene of Many Social Functions for Coming Two Months--Cabinet Dinner Tomorrow Night Starts Season--New Year's Reception Will Follow and is the Elaborate Reception of the Washington Season--Other Receptions and Dinners.

Washington, Dec. 18.--All is in readiness for the cabinet dinner at the White House tomorrow night, which will usher in the program of official dinners and receptions for the season of 1907 and 1908. At the banquet tomorrow night President and Mrs. Roosevelt will gather around them the former's official advisers and their families, with about an equal number of other distinguished guests.

The next event on the social program of the White House will be the New Year's reception, which will usher in the series of state receptions. On that day all the official world will call at the White House to wish the president and Mrs. Roosevelt "A Happy New Year." The cabinet, the supreme court, the ambassadors, and ministers of the diplomatic corps, with their secretaries and attaches, the high officers of the army and navy, senators and congressmen and a host of prominent and well-known citizens will be invited to call, with the ladies of their families, to pay their respects to the chief executive and his wife.

This is always the most elaborate reception of the Washington season, for it is the first large gathering of its kind, and the members of the social world meet to exchange greetings for the first time, in many cases, after their summer vacations. Every one is in a holiday humor and the occasion is a gala one.

The hours of the levee are from 11 to 1 o'clock, when the last stragglers of the veterans and oldest inhabitants are filing in the front entrance as the earlier and more favored guests are departing for their homes.

The diplomatic reception will follow eight days later, occurring on the evening of January 9, from 9 o'clock until 10:30 o'clock. The members of the diplomatic corps are to be the honored guests of that evening, and every one in social and official Washington is busily engaged in pulling wires to secure invitations to this exclusive affair. With the members of the diplomatic representatives of all the 35 countries and foreign powers accredited to this post present, and all in full uniform, their breasts glittering with jeweled orders, and the ladies of the embassies and legations in their most elaborate gowns, the sight is one long to be remembered.

The diplomatic dinner at the White House follows, to take place this year on January 16, when the chiefs of embassies and legations are wined and dined at the executive mansion.

Members of the United States supreme court will assemble at the White House on January 23 for the judicial reception, while the dinner in honor of the justices and their families will follow on January 30. Thursday, February 6, from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. is the date set for the congressional reception, when the senators and representatives and wives and families, will pay their respects to President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

On the night of February 20 will take place the last of the official receptions of the White House season, when the officers of the army and navy will be entertained. All the officers will appear in full uniform, and the affair will be second only in point of brilliancy to the diplomatic reception.

START SNAKE FARM.

North Yakima Men to Devote Thirty Acres Farm to New Industry.

Jack Shaw, Frank Herke and Tom Fisher have been looking at a strip of land near Mabton which they think of utilizing as a snake farm, says the Yakima Republic. The land is said to be admirably adapted to the purpose and without irrigation can raise more snakes to the acre, and oilier snakes, than can be found anywhere this side of Maine or some other prohibition headquarters.

This feature of the oil is a valuable one, as it is the snake oil and the brilliant skins produced by that kind of snakes that they are after. Mr. Shaw says snake oil has a positive medicinal value, but he isn't interested in that phase of it. The finest quality is used by jewelers and he thinks the automobile enthusiasts will take the heavier grades. The
